Cadiz, May 29. N.S. On the 25th Instant a Merchant Ship arrived here from the Canaries, by which we have Advice, that a Dutch Ship was put in there from Cape Verde and brought an Account, That the Admiral of the Buenos Aires Ships, which sailed from hence the last day of April 1698, with three others, was separated from the rest on the 4th of May, and afterwards in Storms and with contrary Winds sailed till the 4th of December, when she arrived at St. Jago, one of the Islands of Cape de Verde, having lost their Commander, and some other Officers, and about Sixty Seamen; The Spaniards were kindly received by the Portuguese, and were repairing the Damage their Ship had sustained, in order to proceed on their Voyage. This evening two of the Custom-house Boats belonging to this place were pursuing a Boat in the Bay, which a French Ship called the Claudio defended, by firing several Muskets at the said Custom-house Boats, who fired likewise at the Ship, and rowing towards the Shore, met the Captain of the said French Ship going on board, whom they took out of his Boat in order to bring him before the Governor; Whereupon some other French Boats who at the same time were going aboard, and had seen part of the Action, went and demanded the said Captain, whom the Spaniards would not deliver; This at first created words, and at last they came to fighting; in which Skirmish one Spaniard was killed, and 7 wounded, whereof their Commander is one; 2 French Men were killed, and 2 French Captains of Ships mortally wounded; and the Captain of the St. Claudio, who is one of them, is since dead; and 2 Lieutenants, with 8 or 10 Seamen, were also wounded. The Spaniards were very well provided with small Arms, and had Pedreroes which did much Damage to the French; but the French plyed them so warmly with Hand-Granadoes, that they were forced to leave their Boats and hasten to the Shore.
